Purpose

All DWD Administrative Office employees are expected to dress in a manner that is acceptable for a professional atmosphere. Our employees represent the Agency and the State to our clients and our colleagues, and our appearance should reflect professionalism and respect. It is our policy that employees will maintain the highest standards of cleanliness and grooming, and should present a neat, businesslike appearance at all times.

Rescission

DWD Policy 2004-46, DWD Dress Code, issued June 29, 2005

Procedure

The Dress Code is to be followed by all DWD Administrative Office employees. If an employee is inappropriately attired or groomed, management will inform the employee upon his or her arrival at work. If the employee's appearance is deemed inappropriate, the employee may be sent home without pay to take the appropriate corrective action and return to work. Employees can use paid time off to change into proper attire. Repeated violation of the dress code policy will be cause for disciplinary action up to and including termination.
